

UHURA SHAWLETTE

Rumoured to have been designed by Ensign Chekov
"the way Russians, first people to invent knitting, would knit "

A pattern of "Hailing Frequencies" beams out towards a stylized Federation ship immersed in "sub-space disturbances"
The shawl is bordered with a "Warp Space" edge.

STITCH KEY:

blank = knit

O = yarnover

v = knit front & back

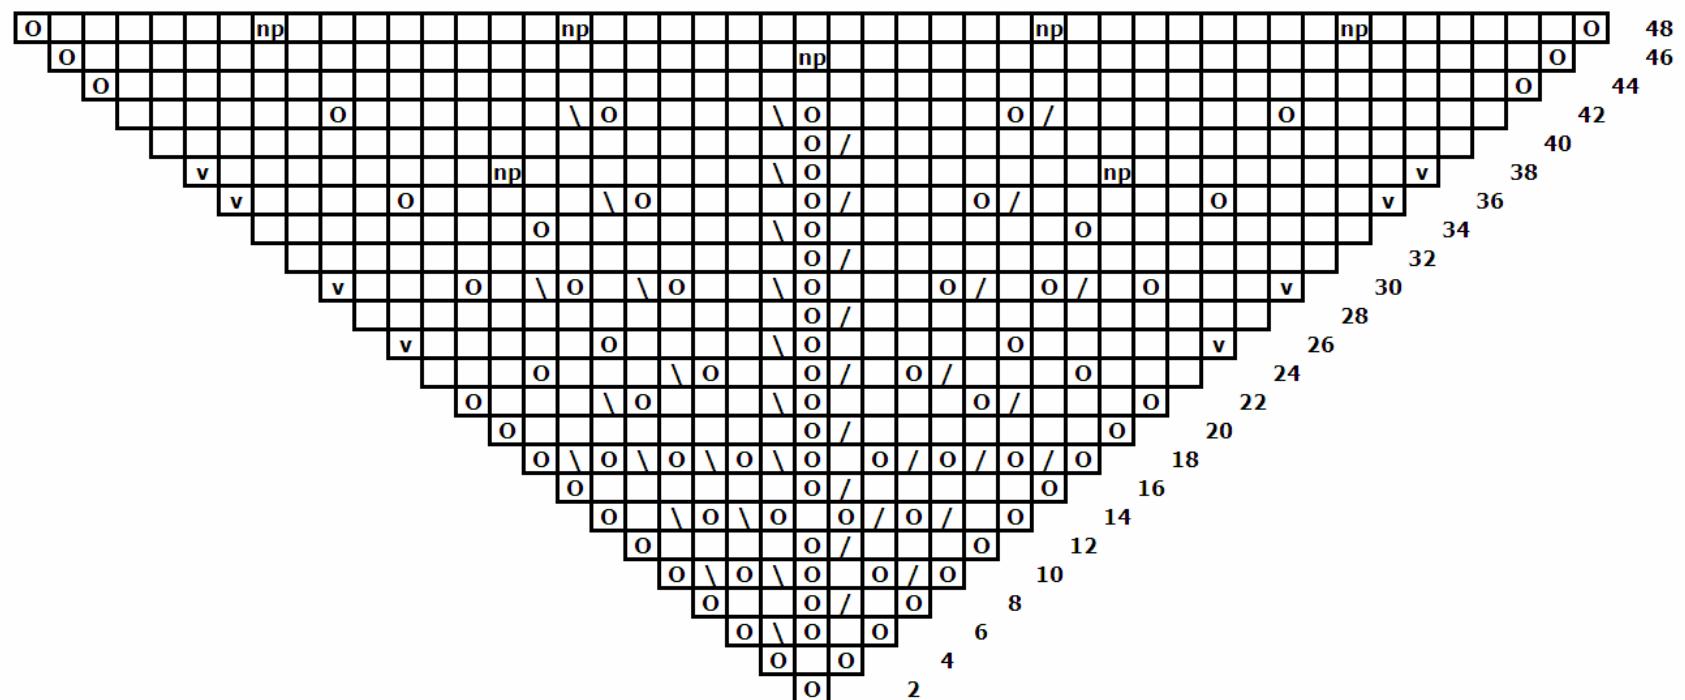

/ = knit 2 together

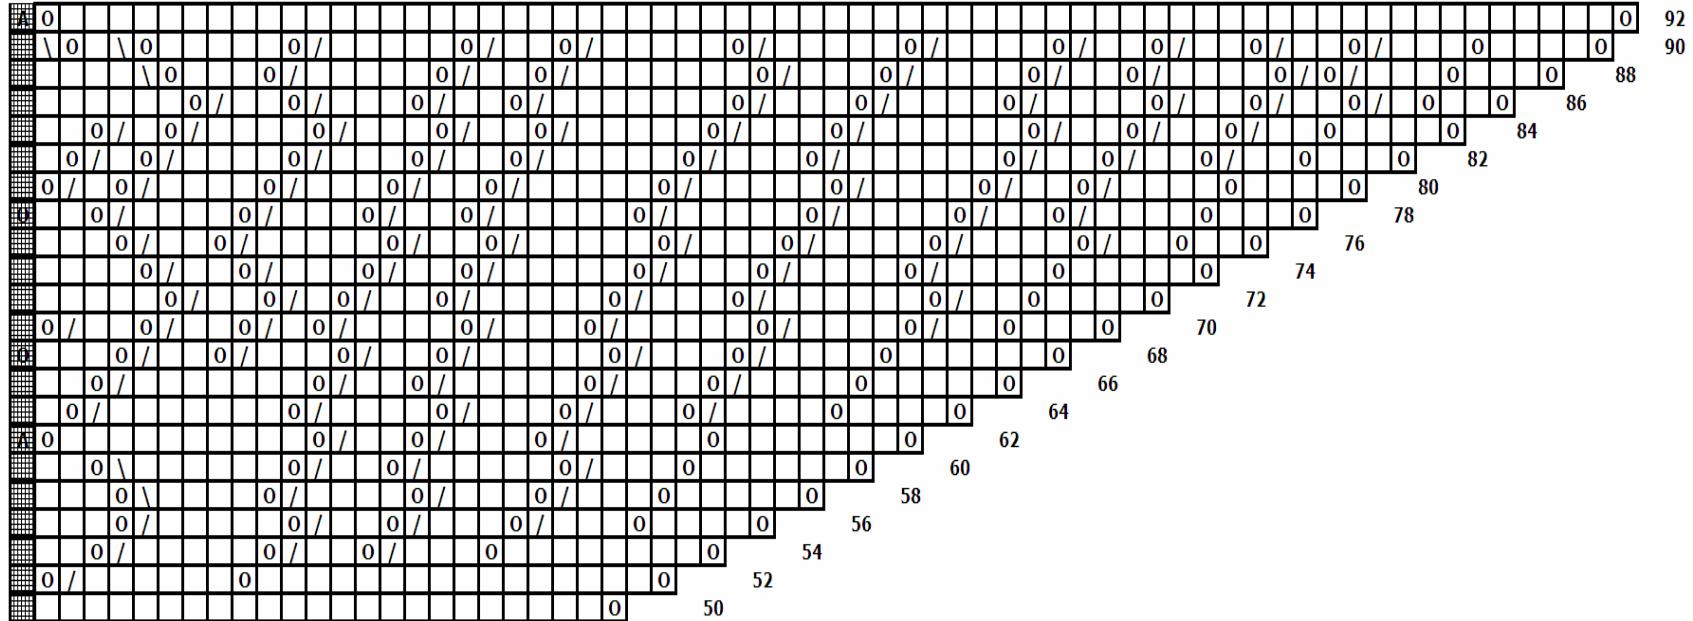

\ = slip 1, knit 1, pssو

np = nupp or bead

cross-hatched = center column of CHART - worked only once per chart row

A = slip 2 together as if to knit, knit 1, pass slipped stitches over

B = bind off (k1; * return stitch to left needle, k1, return stitch to left needle, k2tog tbl; repeat from *)

NOTES:

Cast on is 9 stitches. Knit six rows (garter) before starting charts.

The first chart is worked in the standard manner (right to left)

After the first chart; charts are worked right to left; then left to right, reversing the decreases. Work the center column only once per chart row.

The shawl body is worked :

Wrong side: k3, purl until 3 stitches remain, k3

Yarnovers in the center column are always followed by skp.

Warp Space Edge:

Work the chart 26 times across the live edge of the shawl, maintaining three three stitch strips established in the main body of the shawl

Right side rows are worked:

k3

chart x 13

chart x 13

k3

Return rows for the warp space edge are:

knit to center three stiches, purl 3
knit to end.

(Rows 122 thru 128 may be repeated multiple times for added depth)

Note: a nupp (rhymes with soup) is a decorative element formed in the following manner.

Make 5 (or other odd number) stitches in a single stitch. On the next row - decrease the stitches back to a single stitch by purling together (if working flat) or knitting together (if working in the round) - you may alternatively place a bead on the stitch indicated for a nupp; or you may leave the element out and just work the 'np' as a knit stitch.
